

Till morning comes

One day while drinking, that old pain away
You're suddenly standing too close to me
And while I'm hoping for a kiss
I started crying for my love that's gone away

I watch the night fall over a far away town
It's there my heart calls out for my long lost love
Please let me try to go on
And find my faith I have lost along the road

Silently hoping, one day you'll come along
To tell me your story, I'll listen all night long
Untill the blue haze has come
And all the stars they shine on

'till morning comes
'till morning comes
'till morning comes
'till morning comes

Untill the blue haze has come
And all the stars they shine on
'till morning comes
